Yeah, No Cups -- but plenty of great history in this must-read for those who truly bleed Blue...By brooklynbaseball1955Blues fans have suffered for nearly half a century without a Stanley Cup parade -- we've witnessed a lot of high highs (Hullie's 86, Pronger's MVP, the Monday Night Miracle, the entertaining antics of Bobby Plager in his many roles with the club) and low lows (Bob Gassoff's tragic death, the Bill Laurie era, Keenan's treatment of Joseph and Gretzky, etc.). Jeremy Rutherford goes "top shelf" with this great book covering so much of the Blues' history. I would highly recommend this book to all Blues fans -- young, old, and in between.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. I purchased this book for my father for Fathers Day ...By Tonya A HowardI purchased this book for my father for Fathers Day. He is a huge Blues fan and was so excited to receive it. He is in the middle of reading the book and cannot wait to find out what is next.0 of 0 people found the following review helpful. Every Blues Fan Should Have Thus on the BookshelfBy JD MaberryThe stories in this book are a delight for any Blues fan. The book is filled with backroom and behind the scenes tales you will be happy to see all in one place. The title is odd (what should Blues fans do before they die?) but you will enjoy the stories.

Covering the entire 45-year history of the Blues, author Jeremy Rutherford has collected every essential piece of Blues knowledge and trivia, as well as must-do activities, and ranks them from 1 to 100. Most Blues fans have taken in a game or two at the Scottrade Center, have seen highlights of a young Brett Hull, and are aware that the team is named after the famous W. C. Handy song "Saint Louis Blues". But only real fans know who scored the first goal in franchise history, can name all of the Blues players whose numbers are retired, or can tell you the best place to grab a bite in St. Louis before the game. 100 Things Blues Fans Should Know Do Before They Die is the definitive resource guide for both seasoned and new fans of the St. Louis Blues.

About the AuthorJeremy Rutherford has covered the Blues for the St. Louis Post-Dispatch since 2005. His popular Morning Skate Blog is fans' go-to source for the latest news on St. Louis NHL team. Rutherford previously hosted a radio show on KFSN 590 AM with former Blues tough guy Reed Lowe. He lives in Imperial, Missouri. Brett Hull played for six NHL teams from 1986 to 2005 and is the former executive vice president of the Dallas Stars. He was inducted into the Hockey Hall of Fame in 2009 and the St. Louis Blues retired his No. 16 jersey. He lives in Dallas, Texas.
