(As addictions go, this one is pretty benign.) We're in early days yet, but this one looks promising. It was a Christmas present for a person known for extreme interest in sporting stats, facts, and figures. Unlike prior presents along these lines, the pages have been removed daily so far, and I have been quizzed on some of the content. It's clear some pages have more interesting data and more recognizable birthdays, but what would be the point of a calendar entirely consisting of trivia you already know? For the right person, this thing is great. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. This is the calendar that immerses baseball fans in the numbers, stats, records, personalities, and trivia that fuel their obsession. Hall of Fame: Which pitcher won the Cy Young Award three times in the 1970s? (The Orioles Jim Palmer). World Series: Who hit the first pinch-hit home run in World Series play? (Yogi Berra). Plus Dubious Distinctions, Baseball by the Numbers, and quotes: Im no different than anybody else with two arms, two legs, and forty- two hundred hits. Pete Rose
