Mae West, Charlie McCarthy, Don Ameche : Too Hot for Radio (Too Hot For Radio, Program 2) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Too Hot for Radio (Too Hot For Radio, Program 2):

Those tantalizing, controversial, censored broadcasts that were... TOO HOT FOR RADIO."The Garden of Eden" - December 12, 1937.Starring Mae West, Charlie McCarthy and Don Ameche. This notorious episode led to demands for government censorship of radio. Mae West was "banned from the airwaves" for eleven years after enacting a biblical parody scripted by Arch Oboler."The Garden of Eden" - December 12, 1937.Starring Mae West, Charlie McCarthy and Don Ameche. Mae West invites Charlie McCarthy to "Come up and see me sometime" in a risque sketch that shocked listeners in 1937.
