"Two Truths and a Tall Tale" is a wonderful addition to this very talented writer/illustrator's collection of works! The fascinating, quirky and thought-provoking factual information, along with equally fascinating and quirky "tall tales" that Silverthorne presents, are the perfect ingredients for a "family fun night!" When combined with Sandy's unique, whimsical illustrations that are the hallmark of his style, you have a winning combination! Our grandkids love to play games around the kitchen table, and we can't wait to play "Two Truths and a Tall Tale" with them. The book would also be the perfect solution to those "Are we there yet?" situations that often arise on a long car trip. If you love having fun with your family, and love trivia games, "Two Truths and a Tall Tale" is an absolute must!

A wonderful new addition to our Sandy Silverthorne collection! Fun facts, great for kids and adults, love the illustrations as always. Highly recommended!

Which Two Facts Are True? It's Up to You! Looking for something to get your family unplugged from their devices and engaged in some lively discussion? Indulge their love of trivia and fun facts with this unique game book of fact versus fiction. Spend hours straining your brain as you determine which of three statements is nothing but a tall tale: You can polish copper with ketchup. The man who invented the bulletproof vest never shot a gun. A group of owls is called a parliament. Only two of these statements are true. It's up to you and your family and friends to figure out which ones. Read all three out loud and then use your collective smarts to figure out which one is false. And don't trust the hilarious cartoons some of them just might lead you astray! Warning you might discover that truth really is stranger than fiction. The bulletproof vest was actually invented by a woman. Gotcha!
