Bathroom Readers' Institute : Uncle John's Bathroom Reader Attack of the Factoids: Bizarre Bites of Incredible Information before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Uncle John's Bathroom Reader Attack of the Factoids: Bizarre Bites of Incredible Information:

3 of 3 people found the following review helpful. It can get confusing but the book is worth it and all books are like that now By BarbIt has tons of facts in short articles of one or two paragraphs each. They are grouped into one general subject per page with puny titles. They do even cover a few bathroom topics e.g. the historical development of toilet paper. The spell check always misses words with different spelling, different meanings, same pronunciations e.g. their, there and they're. It can get confusing but the book is worth it and all books are like that now. 2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Best Book Series By Customer It is tough to write a review for Uncle John's books because they are all great in their own ways. I own over 20 of these books and they are some of the best knowledge anywhere. I am currently completing my doctorate and have to read intense books often. My icing at the end of every night before I fall asleep is reading and Uncle John book. The stories are interesting and I have learned quite a bit over the years. I sometimes am embarrassed by how many times I reference facts I learned from Uncle John. 5 of 5 people found the following review helpful. ANOTHER GREAT EDITION By Julia tortorici The only thing negative, is that each bathroom reader always repeats some items. also, it would be helpful if these books were numbered in sequence.

Weighing in at over 400 pages, Uncle Johns Bathroom Reader Attack of the Factoids is a fact-a-palooza of obscure information. Like what, you ask? Well, did you know that bats always turn left when they exit a cave? How about that in the 1960s astronauts trained for moon voyages by walking on Hawaiian lava fields? Also, Lloyds of London insured Bruce Springsteens voice for 3.5 million English pounds, military toilet paper is printed in a camouflage design, Elvis Presley always wore a helmet when watching football on TV, King Henry VIII's ladies at court had a ration of one gallon of beer per day, it takes the energy from 50 leaves on an apple tree to produce one ripe fruit, and the only country to host the Summer Olympics but not win a single gold medal was Canada, in 1976. But that's just the beginning! So what are you waiting for? ATTACK!
