The book is made up of hundreds of different Top 10 lists. The topics range from movies to animals to geography. There is something for everyone. Some of the lists include extra details about some of the things/people who made it onto the lists. I like to use the book like a trivia game. One person reads the title of the list, and the other person tries to name the things on the the list. I would recommend this book to anyone who enjoys trivia of various subjects!2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Great giftBy Laura CBought for my dad for Christmas as I have also done with this book here and there in years past. He enjoyed it thoroughly. One of those good gift items.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Another Great Uncle John!By C. WatsonAs usual, this book was a hit.

History, pop culture, nature, sports, geography, random oddities: With more than 300 pages, this quirky collection of lists includes just about everything you didn't know you wanted to know. Get ready to learn about the fattest herbivores, canyons much deeper than the Grand Canyon, the hugest creepy crawlers (eek!), a record-breaking hot air balloon ride, and which animals you never want to race because you will lose. Here are a few more bits of trivia that appear in this fantastic book: The best-selling shooter game of all time (it's probably not what you think) The deepest Scuba dives The shortest and tallest people of all time The longest reigning monarch World's fastest vehicles The places with the lowest elevation And much more!
