I hope this guy is using this for his Doctorate Thesis or something.2 of 2 people found the following review helpful. Tired of the usual Hollywood dreck?By buckymcsatanWith Hollywood blockbusters, remakes and plagiarism rampant in today's world, there must be an alternative, right? Enter Weng's

Chop, the best "magazine" (Issue #4 is actually a giant tome) of the strange, sometimes obscure and incredibly strange films you've probably never heard of. Lovingly written from the outer fringe of popular culture by many writers from the 90's heyday of photocopy 'zines, Weng's Chop is guaranteed to open a door to a world of culture that will have you tracking down films of significance, instead of yawning through yet another Transformers sequel at your local multiplex. They don't make 'em better than this folks, so grab a copy now and find out what you've been missing in the wild and wonderful world of grindhouse classics, under-rated, hard-to-find foreign gems and cult horror that won't stay dead and shouldn't be forgotten. 1 of 1 people found the following review helpful. Wow! What A Jump In Contents! By Larry G. Boyle Wow. This book turned out to be even better than I thought. Besides the Ray Harryhausen retrospective, the magazine (book?) is filled with great reviews and photos, some even of films I hadn't heard of. A great publication and a giant leap from the 'normal' 52 pages it usually contains so don't let the price faze you. Look at the description and see how many pages you get in this issue. Actually worth more than it's being sold for. Enjoy!

Join the geeks of WENG'S CHOP for their BIGGEST ISSUE YET as they dig deep thru the outer reaches of oddball and obscure to bring you the wildest and weirdest in global cinema! About the Author Professor Brian Harris (BSocSc, BTh (Hons), MTh, PhD (Uni of Auckland)) is Principal of Vose Seminary, a Baptist theological college in Perth, WA. Brian has lived in both South Africa and New Zealand and has successfully been the senior pastor of three churches, each of which grew dramatically. His PhD interacts with the thought of Stanley Grenz and explores the nature and future of evangelical theology. In 2009, he commenced as senior pastor of Carey Baptist Church in conjunction with his role at Vose, giving him valuable practical pastoral insight. Brian is married to Rosemary, and has three children - Nick, Amy and Jett.
