From Brand: Longman Pub Group : Writing and Cinema (Crosscurrents) before purchasing it in order to gage whether or not it would be worth my time, and all praised Writing and Cinema (Crosscurrents):

This collection of essays examines the ways in which writing and movies can be studied in relation to each other. A wide range of material is presented, from essays which look at particular films, including The Piano and The English Patient, to discussions of the latest developments in film studies including psychoanalytic film theory and the cultural study of film audiences. Additional specific topics that the essays address include: the kinds of writing produced for the movie industry, advertising, film adaptations of written texts, plays, 19th century novels and recent science fiction.

About the Author Jonathan Bignell is Professor of Film, Theatre and Television at the University of Reading, UK.
